

Instructor/Author: Jamie Hammond (Business Management)

I developed a new Organizational Behavior course that will be used in the Business Management program at Western Technical College. This is the first core course in the program and it is designed to introduce students to human behaviors in the workplace. Additionally, effective communication is emphasized throughout the course and students are encouraged to cultivate a growth mindset.

This project has great potential to eliminate unnecessary costs and time for students by offering them an overview of organizational behavior with readings, graphics, and videos all located in one convenient place.

While creating this course, I incorporated opportunities for students to learn in different ways. By incorporating business communication concepts, students can explore the correlation between communication and workplace behaviors. Additionally, by periodically addressing a growth mindset throughout the course, students are encouraged to reflect on their attitudes and behaviors in both college and the workplace.

Overall, this project has been a great experience. I hope to hear positive feedback from faculty and students once this class begins.
